MORE LABOR TROUBLES.

Queston of Arbitration-The Tinners Strike For an Advance-Other Troubles in the Queen City and Elsowhere, CINCINNAT, May 'S. -The long existing controversy in the shoe factories resulted in a lockout of 1,400 employes this morning? Those embraced in the lockout are lasters and "shoelitters. " Of the leaders; who are men, there are 300, and of the shoefitters. who are altogether girls of the Hannah Powderly and Laily Franklin assemblies, there are 1,100. The factories embraced in the lockout are Blacker, Sachs & Gerstle,' Krippendorf, Dittman & Co., Wolf & Lowinan, J. A. Marshall, Stribley & Co., Maloney Bros., Louth, Wilhermsdorfer & Co., George Hocker, William Cosgrove and one or two others

The strike is not about hours or wriges, but simply as to the way in which strikes and lockouts may in the future be prevented. There has been a conference lasting for weeks in reference to the bill of wages. Of the eight assemblies in this city six of them were satisfied and signed the bill. The lasters were dissatisfied as they did not think they were faring as well as they should by 15 per cent. It has heretofore been the rules of arbitration in the shoe trade to let the arbitration committee, consisting of George Stribiey, Samuel B. Wolf, C. Krippendorf, J. S. Blacker, James Maloney, George Hocker, J. A. Mar-shall and Micbael Felix on behalf of the manufacturers, and the one delegate from each of the eight assemblies of the Knights of Labor in the shoe trade to decide all controversies. This was called joint arbitration. In this case the lasters claimed the right of their delegate to arbitrate, or separate arbitration, and the girls in the fitting department seconded their claim. The limit of the controversy as to time was May 1, and hence the lockout.

AUBURN. N. Y., May 3.-Saturday the 800 employee of Ara Cushman & Co.'s great shoe factory, received a dividend of 4 per cent. on the amount of their wages for the past year. This profit sharing pian was thus described by the committee of three, who represented the workmen. They say: "At the beginning of the year your committee met Mr. Cushman and hired him to manage the business the coming year. We also, in the same way engaged the other members of the firm; we rented the factory for the year, and we agreed to pay a certain per cent interest upon the capital Invested. This we did for you, and then the matter rested solely with you. How much could you contribute to the profits of the business? You had provided for the firm. Now what was to be done to insure you a good profit? Every cents worth of waste lessened your profit, Every cent saved increased it. Every mite of poor work returned, and there has been a good deal the past year, has been The Tinners Strike.

CINCINNATI, May 8.-The tinners and roofers' strike is on. The men belong to the Phoenix Knights of Labor Assembly, 1781.

On the first of the year they demanded a 20 per cent. advance in wages to take effect

May 1. The employers were to send their answers by April 30. Only one firm, Shurer & Merkel, had accepted the terms yesterday.

A mass meeting of tinners and roofers was held and committees appointed to visit all the shops to get the men out. About five bundred men will go out. The tinners say they only make from $7 or $8 to $14 or $15

No. 1654 of the Tin and Iron Workers, of District Assembly No. 49, has reported that the convention of the tin trades in Philadelphia, on Tuesday had decided, to form an open union, and that the union would proba-bly join the American Federation of Labor. The delegates present were from Baltimore, Boston, this city, Camden and Philadelphia, representing in all 15,000 members. A committee was appointed to perfect the plan of organization.

Troubles in the Labor Party.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 8.—Information has been received which, if true, indicates the probable early disruption of the National Labor Union party. The executive committee has its headquarters in this city and will be in section three days, beginning Tuesday next ... The immediate business that will be considered is the status of the Henry George element in the party. Distinguished reprecontativos of that element from New York and other prominent cities, possibly George himself, are expected in They will come with the full determination to make certain demands and for distinct repudiation of recent action taken by representatives of the party at Cincinnati. They assert that in the reorganization of the party there, and In the appointment of committees since the elec-tion in that city, the George element wasignored and tabooed in obedience to the demands of the party organ there. They now shreaten that if the executive committee does not straighten things out satisfactorily to them they will organize a distinct Henry George party. The organ referred to made a bitter attack on George's theories and de-clared that the party could not succeed un-less it unloaded them..

The Pope and the Knights.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 3.—The story pub-lished in a New York paper to the effect that Cardinal Gibbons had been summoned bome to call a convention of archbishops to connder the question of the Knight of Labor is denied here. Mgr. McCoigan, who has charge of the diocese during the cardinal's absence, says: "There is not one word of truth in it." He stated further: "There is no fear of the pope's condemning the knights as there is nothing in the order inimical to the church. The cardinal and 'myself have frequently discussed the matter."

Margin of Profits.

BOSTON, May 3.-Edward Atkinson lectured last night before the Centrui Labor lyceum, "The Margin of Profits." He claimed to show by statistics that labor is ten times better than capital. His remarks in censure of the Knights of Labor and their policy were noisly resented by a par-tion of the audience. E. M. Chamberlain, representing the Knights of Labor, made a vigorous reply to the arguments of Mr. Atkinson.

WORKS OF ART OF WHICH THE NA-TION MAY WELL FEEL PROUD.

A Representation of Half & Century of the Sculptor's Art-The Good Record of the Commissioner of Penstons-Catching Up With the Work-Other Capital Items. WASHINGTON, May & - The bronze statue of Garfield, which is to be unveiled on May 12, adds to an already large list of remarkable works of art of which the capitol city is possessed. It makes, the number of open-air total, including those within the capitol and the figures of the several groups in and about the building, up to nearly or quite fifty. They, represent a half century of the sculptor's art, a century of labor, almost a million of dollars of cost, and preserve to coming generations the fame, figure and feature of the nation.

No other city in the country has such a collection; no other community in the land is offered such a school of art and instruction, free to ail; no other nation has in lts youtb given more freely of these testimonials to lts departed and great men, and object lessons to its rising generation.

The Garfield statue is a standing figure and costs, with pedestal, nearly $40,000. It is of bronze, as are fifteen others of the open air statues of the city, beroic in size, as are a majority of these outdoor figures. The average cost of the average bronze statue is about $20,000 for the statue itself and $20,000 more for the base, usually of granite, upon A scarcity of water crippied the fire depart-which it rests. The granite blocks compos- ment sorely. ing the base of the Scott statue are said to be the largest ever quarried.

The large proportion of the open air statues are of bronze. Marble is used in some cases, but not with good results. The action of the air and sun and rains and drouth and heat and cold soon tells on the marble. It gets dingy, and the outside looks rough and dirty. Even the enduring gran-lte in the bases of monuments does not retaiu the bright, clear look that characterlzes its first appearance. Granite is considered the most enduring stone that can be had, and it is therefore used in all cases for the base of the open air monumeut or statue. The figure itself is elevated about twenty feet, and as the statues are usually located in a square or circle, or so place I that they must be observed from a distance of twenty to fifty feet more, the necessity for the "heroic" in size is apparent.

The standing figures are about ten feet high and, of course, of similar proportions, so that they are really twice as large as the persons were whose figures and faces they represent. Yet they do not strike you as out of proportion or as being large. The distance at which they are placed from the terrific electric storms known here yield eve and the sameness of color in feature and garment seem to require the increased size to prevent an appearance of absolute insignificance. The granite pedestal, which is usually about twenty feet high, is in many cases ornamented with some designs in bronze, or in some cases the designs 'are engraved upon

From another source it was estimated that their insurance would not amount to over $60,000. The loss on the Strater elevator will reach $75,009 to $85,000. This is fully covered by insurance, $40,000 of which is on the building and the remainder on the stock, in the Scottisb Union and National, of Edinburgh, and Lion of London. The building was five stories high, and was erected in 1882. It was one of the finest and perhaps the largest elevator in the city. The loss on the cars will be about $7,000, and the total loss is roughly estimated at $200,000, including the residence buildings.

The fury of the storm asted nearly half an hour, during which water ran off the hill in torrents, and flooded the streets and a great many celiars and stores on Superlor street. #### An Unknown Man Jumps From the Cincinnati Suspension Bridge.

CINCINNATI, May 8 .- This, morning at fifteen minutes after 10 pedestrians on the Suspension bridge were horrified at the sight of a man jumping over the bridge about twenty-five feet from the center. The man struck the water on bis back and did not sink until he had floated below Centra avenue. Although there were several parties in skills in the river at the time, no attempt was made to catch the man. His identity is unknown.' One curious feature is that a large num-1t. ber of these statues have nothing upon their bases to tell the passer, if a stranger, the name of the person represented or commemorated.

The most of these statues have been erected by the government. A few, like those of Garfield, have been contributed by associations. This one of Garfield is contributed by the Society of the Army of the Cumberland. They subscribed about $20,000 for the statue itself and the government gave as much more for the granite pedestal. The statue of Gen. Thomas, which was erected by the same soclety nearly ten years ago, cost more, as it is an equestrian statue, and bronze horse are more costly than bronze men. There are six of these equestrian statues in Washington, one of Gen. Washington, intended to represent him as he appeared at the battle of Princeton; one of Gen. Scott, in his uniform of the rank of lieutenant general; one of Gen. McPherson, erected by the Society of the Army of the Tennesee; one of Gen. Nathaniel Greene, in the uniform of the Continental army; one of Gen. Thomas, erected by the Army of the Cumberland, and th famous equestrian statue of Gen. Andrew Jackson, cast from the cannons and mortars captured during his campaigns.

These six equestrian statues have alone cost about $300,000. Then there are six bronze pedestrian statues, Rawlins, Farragut, Dupont, Garfield, Professor Henry, and that of Martin Luther, erected at the front of the Luther Memorial church a couple of years ago. Near the steps of the Capitol ls the statue, in bronze, of Chief Justice Marshall, representing him seated in his chair achief justice. Not far away the bronze statue "Emancipation," erected by the coi-ored people, representing Lincoln freeing the slave, and in various places in and out of the Capitol various others, bringing the total number up to nearly fifty.

A Good Record for General Black. WASHINGTON, May 3:-Gen. Black, commissioner of pensions, has made a remarkable record during the time be has been in the office. When he assumed the office of commissioner of pensions the board of raview guished people from abroad. The sermon was over three years behind in its work. When the office closed Saturday every case before that board was disposed of, and it was up with its work to date. This is the first time in the history of the office that the board has done such a thing. Two years ago there were pending in the pension bureau many thousands of applications for pensions which had been filed away and never received consideration. Some of these dated all the way back for twenty years. At the close of the office on April 30, all the applications filed prior to March 17, 1885, had been disposed of. Were it not for the consideration of pensions for the Mexican veterans a large reduction in the cierical force would be necessary. A few weeks after Gen. Black became commissioner there was a reduction. of 150 in the clerical force. There were over 11,000 certificates issued during the past month, a larger number than was ever before issued in any one month.

PITTSBURG, May 8.-The towboat J. C. The Richer was ready to leave for a trip down the river, the fires under the furnaces having been burning all night. The crew had just been called, and while a deck hand named Hayes was standing in the cabin, the

"She is well. After the doctors gave up her case she tried Dr. Pierces ' Favorite Prescription ' and began to get better right away. I heard her say not long ago, that she hadn't felt so well in twenty years. #### C. P. Huntington's Testimony at the Pacific Rallway Investigation.

C. P. Huntington stated that the com-pany's lawyer at Waskington was paid $20,000 per year salary, and was allowed from $30,000 to $40,000 to "explain" to people in Washington that it was to the advantage of the public, and not the company he was interested in, that the company's schemes should be approved in Congress. General Franchot was their counsel for many years.

Their counsel was never asked what he did with the money, nor was he called upon to produce vouchers. If he asked for $10,000 he could have it, because the witness knew it would be put to a good use. Mr. Huntington told the Commissioners they had no idea how many people there were in Washington to whom it was necessary to "explain." The Com-missioners expressed surprise that no vouchers were taken for such large ex-penditures. The baiance sheets published in the annual statements of the company were produced, and Mr. Huntington was asked to explain an item of $63,-000 in the statement of 1873 for legal expenses. The witness said that he could penses. The witness said that he could only offer the same explanation he had already given—that the money was need in "explaining" things at Washington. The company had to "educate" people in Washington—they had to "explain," The witness was then asked to give an illustration. He said: "You want to get Richard Ros who represents a certain get Richard Roe, who represents a certain district, to do something. Well, you can not speak to him. You send into his district and get John Doe to tell Richard Roe that what you want is just the very thing for that district."

The witness denied that money had ever been given to Congressmen to influ-ence them in favor of the company, but he admitted that the company's counsel had used more money than usual while Congress was sitting. Some of the money might have been "explained" in champagne dinners or cigars. What the wit-ness meant by "educating" was that the company had to show the company's object or scheme would be more for the benefit of the public than of the com-pany. They had to "explain" to the people at Washington that it was better to build their line on solid rock in the bay of San Francisco than it was to build on piles. Moral influence had to be brought to bear on the Washington people. Wit-ness was then questioned as to the lease of the Central Pacific to the Southern Pacific, and he admitted that he was in-terested in both companies and had rec-ommended the consolidation. The proceedings then adjourned.

PHILADELPHIA, May 3.-James N. Tag-gert, paying telier of the Union Trust com-pany, has absconded. His books show a shortage of about $100,000. Taggart's whereabouts is unknown. They say the money must have all been taken within very recent must have all been taken within very recent period, as they have a careful system of checks to prevent any long standing specula-tions. Taggert was iast at the office on April 12. When he disappeared his accounts were found to be incorrect. Fast life is supposed to have ruined Taggert. # ANTI-POVERTY SOCIETY.

AN IMMENSE MEETING IN CHICKER-ING HALL, NEW YORK.

Henry George Presides, and Dr. McGlynn is the Hero of the Occasion-An Extract of His, Speech - The Deposed Priest Speaks Eloquently For the Poor.

NEW YORK, May 8.-The Anti-Poverty Society, of which Dr. McGlynn is president and Henry George vice president, held its first meeting Sunday night at Chickering hall. The hall was packed to overflowing, and on the platform, were a large number of leaders of the United Labor party. The exercises opened with winging by a chorus of fifty voices, led by Miss Agnes Munier.

Henry George presided, and in the open-ing address said: "The presence of such a large audience at the first meeting of the Anti-Poverty Society, shows that there is a widespread feeling in the community against the social crime of poverty. In starting this society we do not propose to form 'a church. There are already churches enough in the community. There is nothing sectarian in the piatform of the society.' All creeds are welcome. If Archbishop Corrigan chooses to join he is welcome, and if Robert Ingersoll desires to become a member he is welcome also. We propose to arouse a religious sentiment in meu and women to help each other, and to do what charity can not do. We hold that poverty, that festers in the heart of our great cities, does not arise from the niggardliness of the Creator, but from man's sinfulness. We will preach the doctrine of him who said: 'Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, ye have done it unto me,' not like those who try to persecute the men who stand up for the rights of the poor."

While Mr. George was speaking Dr. Mc-Glynn stepped upon the platform. Every man and woman rose in their seats, and the greatest kind of enthusiasm reigned for several minutes. When quiet was re-stored Dr. McGlynn stepped to the reading desk and said :

"I am intensely conscious that we stand here to-night on a historic platform. The founders of this society in years to come will look back upon to-night's meeting with pleasure and satisfaction. It is not amiss that I, a priest of Christ, should stand here to speak of the cause which proposes to abolish this horrid crime of poverty, which is injustice of men in violation of laws of is injustice of man in violation of laws of (iod. I would be recreant to my sacred priesthood if I should falter to speak the word, which I am commanded hy my Lord and Master to speak. Surely, my friends, it should hardly be necessary for a priest to apologize for loving the poor, for teaching men the better law as Christ taught-the equity of men-because all are children of a common Father.

"The laws of nature require us to work. Work is not entirely a curse. God intended it to be an enjoyable part of man's education.
